

Foam tests and foam testers provide a standard method of obtaining data for research and development, quality control, acceptance or rejection under specifications, and special purposes.

- Type A specimens are used when enough sample material exists to form the necessary specimen.
- Type B is preferred when smaller specimens are available, such as in sandwich panels, etc.

ASTM D1623 TESTING FIXTURE (Type A)

ASTM D1623 TESTING FIXTURE (Type B)